

This is a re-release with a additional 4500 words. This is my story to tell. I hope you all enjoy it. Zoey Follow Breez the son of one of the leaders of the Branch Village Boys, a notorious drug ring operating out of the Trinity Garden Projects on Houston northside. Watch through the eyes of Breez a highschool senior and top basketball recruit who trades in his scholarship for a life of money, cars and women. But when he is injected into a new city to run their drug trade things take a turn for the worse that not even he could have imagined. The Branch Village Boys are hit with a series of secret indictments that turn leader on leader and he gets tangled in a web of lies, deceit and backstabbing. But when he's given a ultimatum either live his dream with his new found love or do the unthinkable and go into hiding he chooses money and love. But a crazy series of events may just make his decision for him. Whats a young guy to do when his back is against the wall, either run or fight like hell. What would you do?
