

Hira is an inquisitive girl with high aspirations. She wants to be loved for her thoughts. However, a country like Pakistan does not appreciate the talent to speak the truth. This brings Hira into conflict with the elites of Pakistan. If Hira has to change the current situation of her country, she will have to change the nation. To change the nation, all she needs is power. Will Hira take the risk and sacrifice her life for the upcoming generations? It is not money that brings power, but in fact, it is truth that brings power and everything that is needed for a better nation. Before reading the book, one must keep in mind that it is not just about Pakistan, it is about the world. There are criminals and tyrants everywhere around the world and our war is not with the rulers, but with all those people who strangle the peace of this world. We have to heal the world together!
